Reflective Writing

The past few months have been different in many ways and there were times you had to make decisions or choices. Looking back, describe the decisions/choices you had to make, what were the outcomes and how these have changed things for you.

A guide for your writing:

- Include a plan that has basic details of your write up.
- Includes at least 3 ideas.
- Begin with an introduction that will be attention-grabbing.
- The content could follow, for example, a time-pattern describing the decisions/choices, outcomes and the effects for you.
- The above point will highlight your ability and personality to handle situations.
- The conclusion could bring together the all the points and your learning experience.
